

73,000 COAL MINERS QUIT JOBS

GOP OUTSPENT COUNTY DEMS BY BIG MARGIN

Report Shows Victory Cost
Republicans $5,646, Four Times Dem Expense.

The Republicans, who won the Nov. 5 election, spent $5,646 in Richland county and in donations to the state GOP committee, while the Democrats, who lost, spent $1,375 in the county campaign, expense reports showed today.

Breakdown of the Republican report, filed by R. W. Carroll, treasurer of the GOP county executive committee, shows that $1,500 of the expenditures were in the form of contributions to the Ohio Republican finance committee and $300 to J. Harry McGreggor, who won reelection to congress in the 17th district.

Carroll's report indicates the GOP received contributions of $5,646.20 from party backers. A balance of $1,175.18 is to be used in future campaigns, the report says.

The report shows that 175 persons or organizations contributed to the Republican party and 75 to the Democratic campaign.

Contributors Listed.
Contributors of the largest amounts to the GOP, and the amounts they gave, include: H. S. Black, $150; Robert B. Black, $100; Donald Black, $100; Roger A. Black, $100; G. L. Draffan, $100; J. M. Strickler, $50; O. C. Henkel, $100; W. H. Lake, $100; J. B. Montgomery, $136; J. C. Gorman, $150; G. W. Stephens, $85; Alan Tappan, $50; P. R. Tappan, $50, and A. C. Rhoads, $50.

Contributors and the amounts they gave to the Democratic campaign include: John Hergett, $100; Arthur Limbach, $75; Howard Wenning, $70; Wesley W. Pandy, $50; William A. Springer, $50; J. B. Kochheiser, $50, and E. B. Kallmerten, $50.

Expense items in the Democratic report shows donations of $100 each to three of the party's candidates, Purdy, candidate for congress in the 17th district; Lewis L. Rinehart, candidate for county commissioner, and Harry M. Bowman, candidate for county representative to the state legislature.

Principal expense items for both parties were various forms of advertising while endeavors by precinct workers in "getting out the vote" cost the Republicans $485 and the Democrats $250.

Meanwhile, the Mansfield Public Parks association reported to the board of elections that its campaign in support of Mansfield's two-tenths of a mill recreation levy cost it $161.89, which exactly balanced the amount of contributions it received. Harold K. Keller, treasurer of the association, filed the report.

PROBERS SEEK HOUSING FAULTS

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A congressional investigation of the veterans' housing program, to determine whether government contractors impeded rather than spurred new building, today was made the first business of the house banking committee in January.

Rep. Wolcott, Michigan Republican who succeeds Rep. Spence (D-Ky.) as committee chairman, told newsmen the quick inquiry will be aimed at uncovering the "basic faults" of the program with the view to speedy passage of remedial legislation.

Describing the present program as "outrageously bad," Wolcott said "there is little time to lose. The investigation must be the first order of business for the committee."

The veterans' housing program, passed by congress last spring under urging of President Truman, is designed to provide almost 3,000,000 houses for veterans in two years. It includes priorities on materials for veterans and $400,000,000 in subsidies to increase the production of scarce building materials.

"There have been so many rumors about the housing program that they are crying for an investigation," Wolcott said, adding:

Inmates Aid Glatke In Effort to Reform State Prison System

18 Prisoners Paraded Before Crowd
Of 2,000 at Welfare Meeting.

In a dramatic demonstration of his contention that different classifications of criminals should not be imprisoned in the same institutions, Arthur L. Glatke, superintendent of the Mansfield reformatory, yesterday paraded 18 reformatory inmates of six different classifications before more than 2,000 persons attending the Ohio welfare conference in Columbus.

He said on his return today that the men appeared voluntarily after he had told them their appearance might lead to changes in the present system of "mixing all sorts of criminals, including mental cases, in prisons."

The men were questioned before the conference by Dr. John V. Horst, resident physician at the reformatory. Dr. Horst carried on a dialogue which was intended to accentuate the differences between the six classifications.

Three of Each Type.

Three inmates of each type were represented among the 18 convicts. The major classifications are, according to Glatke, normal, dullards, homosexuals, psychopathic personalities, psychopathic delinquents and mental defectives.

Normal persons account for 33 per cent of the reformatory inmates, Glatke said. Other percentages are: dullards, 14; homosexuals, 8; psychopathic personalities, 21; psychopathic delinquents, 12; mental defectives, 10; borderline insane, 1/2, and unclassified, 2 1/2.

"We cannot treat six or eight types of criminal personality, from bright normals to borderline insane, from 16 years old to 30, from killers down to automobile thieves, all in one place," Glatke told the conference.

Would Diagnose Each.

He called for a "receiving prison" where the "offender would be studied, diagnosed and classified. After classification, he recommended that the prisoner be sent to the kind of institution he needs to be brought back to a normal life."

"Chaplain, physician, psychologist, psychiatrist, superintendent and guard all want to do something constructive for the offender," Glatke said.

Fensch Named To Head Army Advisers Here

Dr. Edwin Fensch, Mansfield school's research director, yesterday was appointed chairman of the Mansfield Army Advisory committee.

Desmond Walker, representing the Congress of Industrial Organizations, was appointed secretary at a meeting of representative citizens in the office of Mayor R. W. Vaughn.

Other committee members named were John G. Routzon, John H. Finefrock, Jr., Rev. C. A. Portz, Clarence D. Fike, W. B. Huber, Ken Woodman, J. M. O'Hara, Mrs. Besse Augsberger, and Col. Stuart M. Weaver.

After the appointment of the committee, Master Sgt. Daniel DeSalvo, commander of the Mansfield Army recruiting station, outlined the war department's proposed plan for Universal Military training.

The purpose of the committee is to act as liaison between the war department and the community in public relations matters. Similar committees have been formed in 30 other Ohio cities and a state committee has been appointed by the governor, DeSalvo said.

The committee will meet Dec. 16 at 4 p. m. in room 4, the post office building.

REDS TRY TO HOLD ROMANIAN CONTROL

LONDON—(INS)—Dispatches from Bucharest described the capital today as tense as Romanians went to the polls in a national election closely watched by Anglo-American observers for evidence of governmental coercion and intimidation.

Seeking a continuance in office in the first election in nine years is the allegedly Communist-dominated national front of Premier Petru Groza.

The government party is opposed by four opposition groups led by the National Peasant party of Dr. Iuliu Maniu.

ARMY PLANS TRAINING

WASHINGTON—(AP)—With an eye to atomic age warfare, the army ground forces announced today it will send about 400 men a year to leading schools of the nation to keep abreast of "continuing scientific developments."

THREE MEMBERS JOIN RANKS OF UNITED NATIONS

Assembly President Welcomes
Delegates of Sweden, Iceland,
Afghanistan.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Three new countries, which were neutral in World War II formally entered the United Nations today.

Delegates of Sweden, Iceland and Afghanistan signed the historic document at 10:25 a. m. EST in the small conference room at Flushing Meadows.

Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium, president of the general assembly, invited the delegates to step forward. He spoke one sentence in French, without translation.

Abdul Hosayn Aziz of Afghanistan was first, followed by Thor Thors of Iceland, and Sweden's foreign minister, Osten Unden.

This formality of building up the United Nations to a total of 54 members was due to be succeeded, however, by a most acrimonious debate.

The plenary sessions are being held in the United Nations temporary headquarters at Flushing Meadows, Queens.

Egypt Protests.

Egypt had a resolution on the agenda complaining about racial persecution. This could well tear the lid off, bringing up the Jewish issue as regards Palestine versus the Arab league.

Three new members must be elected to the powerful security council.

Six new members must be elected to the economic and social council.

An east-west battle was expected in both instances.

The Netherlands, Mexico and Egypt were going off the security council. An effort was to be made to replace them in geographical alignment.

On the economic and social council, six new members were due for election.

As of today, Soviet Russia holds four seats on the economic council—herself, the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia. Yugoslavia and the Ukraine terminate their tour on the economic council.

Soviet Russia wants to re-elect Yugoslavia to replace the Ukraine with Byelorussia. Lebanon goes out, and the Arab league hopes to elect Syria.

SETTLE DISPUTE AT HUMPHRIES

Reinstatement of a war veteran to his job and an agreement to arbitrate the discharge of the veteran's father had led some 250 workers at the Humphries Manufacturing company, union and company spokesmen reported today.

The dispute caused a work stoppage which is due to end completely tomorrow when the last of the idle workers return to their jobs in the plant's enameling department, it was said.

Negotiations between company and union delegations, led by Forrest Payne, business agent of Local 758, United Electrical Workers (CIO), and Harry G. Dotson, Humphries personnel director, ended at 5 p. m. after an all-day session yesterday.

"We have resumed production and should be in full stride by tomorrow. The large majority of the workers are on the job now," Dotson said.

Both Dotson and Thomas Murphy, chief union steward, speaking in the absence of Payne, said the veteran was reinstated to his job. They also agreed that both the union and company would abide by the results of arbitration in the reinstatement of the vet's father, who is a union steward.

Murphy said the arbitrator would probably be a "government" man, but Dotson said he did not know who would handle the arbitration proceedings or where or when they would take place.

Free Trading In Meat Helps Prices, Supply

CHICAGO—(AP)—Prices which farmers received for livestock today, at the start of the sixth week of decontrolled markets, were only slightly under peaks established immediately after ceilings were removed.

Other results of free trading include more meat, a corn-hog price relationship favorable for expanding the hog population, record numbers of cattle moving into mid-western feed lots and increased cold storage meat holdings.

The nation has had 30 days of free trading with these results:

1. A high of $37 paid for live cattle yesterday at Chicago equaled the best price on record for steers. Top on live hogs was $24.75 against a peak of $27.50 shortly after decontrol.

These prices were well above former OPA ceilings of $20.25 on cattle and $16.25 on hogs. In addition there was a subsidy of 50 cents to $2.40 on cattle and $1.75 on hogs.

2. Livestock receipts and meat supplies are much larger than in the period before decontrol. Cattle slaughter under federal inspection in October was up 207 per cent over September and hog slaughter 611 per cent.

3. Record numbers of stocker and feeder cattle have moved into mid-western feed lots, where they are being fed for later marketing as choice beef.

Slaughter of choice cattle "will continue small for the balance of this year," the agriculture department said, but added, "an increasing volume of such cattle may be forthcoming after the first of next year, with large supplies probable in the late spring and summer."

4. Meat prices are lower than immediately after decontrol, but far above former ceilings. Choice dressed beef carcass weighing 300 to 600 pounds at New York yesterday brought $45 to $48. Immediately after decontrol the price was $59.67. Ceiling was $26.18.

Choice pork loins weighing 8 to 10 pounds yesterday sold for $52 to $55 a hundredweight compared to $55 a hundredweight (Continued on Page 3)

MAYOR BANS BOARDS

DOVER—(INS)—Mayor Harry Stucky ordered today for the second time this year that all punch boards be banned from Dover. The mayor ordered the banishment of slot machines several months ago.

Goossens, Due Here Dec. 2, Resigns Cincinnati Post

Mansfield music-lovers will have probably their first and only chance to hear Eugene Goossens, conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, when he appears here with the orchestra on Dec. 2. News releases today disclosed that Goossens has resigned his post with the Cincinnati orchestra to become conductor of the Sydney, Australia, Philharmonic.

Goossens comes to Mansfield Dec. 2 in the second of the Civic Music association series for this fall and winter. He will present Australia, symphony orchestra and director of the New South Wales Conservatory of Music.

His resignation takes effect when his contract for this year's series of concerts expires in March.

Goossens has just returned from a 35,000-mile tour of England and Australia. It was while touring the latter country, that he made arrangements for his new position. World famous, Goossens has presided over the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra for 16 seasons next March. The distinguished American conductor has his orchestra at the John Simpson Junior high school, beginning at 8:15 p. m.

City's Coal Supplies Dwindling

As the nation faced its second coal strike in little more than six months, Mansfield coal dealers today reported dwindling supplies despite a voluntary rationing system from one to two tons per day.

One dealer said he expected "close up shop" after two. Others predicted their supplies would be virtually exhausted by the end of the week.

There were some optimistic notes, however. The Mansfield schools have a plentiful stock on hand. The consensus of dealers was that most Mansfield homes have "adequate" supplies.

Schools Get Two Cars.

J. B. Moke, purchasing agent for Mansfield public schools, said the arrival of two cars of coal yesterday ended any immediate threat of a shortage.

Seven additional carloads are on order, he said. A rail car weighs approximately 50 tons.

Simon Small, coal dealer, said he believed most homes "have some coal in the basement and some bins are filled to capacity."

"Lots of people placed orders for their winter's supply last summer," he said. "However, judging by the current flood of orders, everybody was that smart."

Obeys U. S. Order.

Dealers generally reported they were conforming with the government order limiting the sale of soft coal. Not one dealer had more than a truckload of coal on order, and some were selling the small truckloads, which weighed from one to two tons.

Dealers also were refusing to serve new customers to avoid possibility of hoarding by persons who might place orders with the regular dealer and also attempt to obtain coal from other sources.

R. L. Tiecht, owner of the Hecht Coal company, said he just about sold his last ton.

He reported that he had a virtually "cleaned out" since yesterday because of the strike that and the onslaught to the winter's first cold snap.

The dealers went on records approving the government's efforts to prevent the strike, all applauded the issuance of an injunction restraining John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers' chief, from canceling his contract.

"It's time the government do something about Lewis," one dealer said. "It's time they decide who's running the country."

13 MORE FINED FOR GAMBLING

Police raided another North Main street dice game yesterday, and today in municipal court defendants boosted to $665 the amount of fines the city has collected on gambling cases in the past 24 hours.

Charged with being the proprietor of a gambling house at 224 North Main street, Ulysses Toliver pleaded guilty and was fined $200 and costs today.

Among those arrested during the two-officer "raid" yesterday also was Eugene Johnson, 31 North Main street, who was picked up in a similar raid Saturday night on another North Main street game.

Johnson and Nathan Burks, 21 North Main street, were fined $25 and costs on gambling charges while 10 other defendants were fined $10 and costs each on charges of visiting a gambling house. Yesterday in court Johnson was fined $10 and costs as "visiting" charge.

Fined on the "visiting" charge today were Roosevelt Bridgman, 25 Harmon avenue; Ernest Jefferson, 231 North Franklin avenue; Fred Smith, 823 Bowman street; James Hawkins, 228 North Franklin avenue; Joe Shirley, 228 North Franklin avenue; Acie Miles, 41 North Adams street; Fell Smith, 41 Harmon avenue; Charles Jennings, 65 East Sixth street; David Jefferson, 271 North Franklin avenue, and C. B. Crockett, 222 North Franklin avenue.

Confiscated during the raid was $8.40 in cash and numerous pieces of gambling equipment, including a dice table, marked dice, cover, a croupier stick and money block. This equipment and general chance sheets, punch boards and cards and dice were ordered destroyed.

Crockett, one of the defendants, attempted to escape, officers shot shortly after he was placed under arrest. He fled the pool room while waiting to be transported to headquarters but quickly was recaptured in an alley off North Main street.

Lewis Silent On Next Move In Wage Duel

Union Chief Takes No Action to Halt
Strike Despite Court Order.

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON—(INS)—The Solid Fuels Administration announced shortly after noon that 72,828 miners had left their jobs, idling 272 mines. As a result, 463,487 tons of coal—about 20 per cent of the normal output—were lost.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Tension rolled through the nation's soft coal fields today with noon reports indicating that more than 58,000 miners have already laid down their tools while others pondered their 27-year loyalty to AFL-United Mine Worker President John L. Lewis.

With less than 48 hours to go, Lewis played a silent hand today on the question of obeying a federal court order against another strike heralded to begin at midnight Wednesday.

Disobedience could land the United Mine Workers' chief in jail—indeinitely—for contempt of court.

Vacationing in Key West, Fla., President Truman kept in touch with the crisis and emphasized that he is determined to "fight this one to a finish," as an aide expressed it.

Asked if troops might be sent to the mines, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross replied: "I don't know."

Ross said, however, that "the president is aware of everything that is being done, and everything that is being done is in accordance with his instructions."

Ross disclosed that Mr. Truman specifically instructed Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug to obtain yesterday's federal court order restraining Lewis until Nov. 27 from "coercing, instigating, inducing or encouraging the miners to strike—either directly or indirectly—or otherwise to breach his contract with the government."

The "court order," signed by Judge Alan T. Goldsborough, in effect calls upon Lewis and his 400,000 miners to keep the pits operating for at least eight more days. Then, a week from tomorrow, a hearing will be held to determine whether an injunction shall be issued outlawing any strike as long as the government operates the mines.

Cites Debs Case.

Attorney General Clark signaled his strategy when applying for the order for Krug. He cited the famous case of Eugene V. Debs, who led the Chicago pullman strike in 1894 and was sent to jail for six months for contempt of court in violating an anti-strike injunction.

It is a question, however, whether Lewis could be held in contempt if the miners just quit without any word or counsel from him.

Keyed with the swift-moving controversy were these developments:

1. George T. Christopher, president of Packard Motor company, said in Atlanta that a coal strike would force almost immediate shutdown of the automobile industry—inevitably affecting tens of thousands of workers.

The industry will shut starting down just as soon as they start striking," he said.

2. The government, to conserve dwindling coal supplies, ordered a 25 percent cut in passenger service provided by coal-burning locomotives, effective Sunday night. Freight restrictions are also under consideration.

3. The office of defense transportation disclosed that the nation's railroads now have only a 30-day supply of coal on hand. Some have as little as a 10-day supply.

4. In Richmond, Gov. William H. Tucker of Virginia pledged full police protection to any coal miners wishing to continue work under the U. S. government.

LANDLORDS PLAN STRIKE FOR HIKE

OKLAHOMA CITY—(UP)—Spokesmen for the nation's apartment owners prepared today to take a "strike" vote against prospective tenants to force the OPA to boost or abolish rental ceilings.

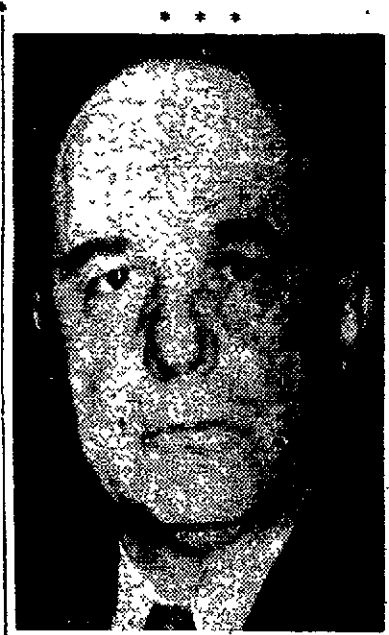

President George M. Englar, Baltimore, said the National Apartment Owners' association would approve in convention late today a resolution calling on all property owners to withhold rental units unless a 15 per cent "across-the-board" hike in ceilings is granted immediately.

Englar said many landlords throughout the country already were refusing to rent vacant dwellings under OPA controls.

L. Y. Efferth, Cleveland, urged the convention to go slow, lest it incite the wrath of organized veterans groups.

WOMAN KILLED IN HOTEL FIRE

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Fire that flashed through the 72-room, residential hotel Belden on Cleveland's East side left one woman dead today, 11 others injured, five of them seriously, and nearly 80 occupants temporarily homeless.

Assistant Fire Chief James Nims estimated damage at $30,000 and said the blaze apparently had a good start before it was reported.

Origin was undetermined, but firemen expressed the opinion it started either from the first floor incinerator of the four-story brick structure or the basement boiler.

While most of the occupants were reading, listening to their radios or otherwise occupied last night, flames swept up the stairwell, cutting off that means of escape to many top floor residents.

Neighbors heroically led or helped a score or more frightened occupants to safety before fire companies arrived.

Mrs. Amelia Hirsch, telephone operator at the hotel, turned in the first alarm at 9:27 p. m. last night, then started notifying occupants to leave their rooms. She did not leave the switchboard until all the residents were out.

Two children were hurled from second and third floor windows into the arms of neighbors in the street. Some escaped by tying bed sheets together and letting themselves down from their windows. Ladders were brought hurriedly from homes nearby, and other occupants were brought down them.

The dead woman was identified from a metal tag in her purse as Mrs. Freda C. Shanks, a middle-aged widow. Her body bore severe burns but at the county morgue death was attributed to suffocation by smoke.

Army Reported Picked for Bowl

ATLANTA—(AP)—The Atlanta Journal, in a story by Sports Editor Ed Danforth, said today that the Army will play as the eastern team in the Rose Bowl New Year's day.

Danforth's story said "this was a tip from a press source as representatives of the Pacific Coast conference and the Big Nine went into a day-long session in Berkeley."

RULES ON PENSIONS

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins held today that under amendments to the aid for the aged law an inmate of a public institution becomes eligible for an allowance provided he pays some amount to such an institution.

THE OTHER NIGHT in the House of Dixon the swelldie Joe Mooney Quartet started playing their humorous arrangement of "Just a Gigolo" . . . A pleasant-looking young chap (sitting with an older woman at the ringside) became uncomfortable as Mooney started singing the special lyrics directly at him. As the laughter grew, the fellow squirmed . . . He excused himself and beat a hasty retreat to the lounge room until the song ended . . . When he returned, his companion teased him about his self-consciousness. . . . "But he was singing it right at me," he remarked, "and every one was laughing." "My dear," the woman replied, patting his hand, "Joe Mooney was singing directly at your imagination. You see, Joe is blind."

On their program Dorothy (Kilgallen) and Dick (Kollman) give away a Bible marker to every listener writing for one. (This is done through the cooperation of the Bible Society.) . . . Recently they aired their musings on the casting of the male lead in the "Forever Amber" flicker. A few days later they received the following letter: "Dear Dorothy and Dick: I don't think Cornel Wilde should be in 'Forever Amber.' I think a much better choice would be my favorite, Errol Flynn. Please send me a Bible marker."

They were a couple of wild kids, and their marriage was made in heaven—like lightning. It happened over night . . . Blase Broadway was even stunned by the news. Like impetuous kids they didn't plan very far in advance, and when it came time to locate an apartment, they found themselves out in the cold. . . . Imposing on the well-wishes of friends, they drifted from one family to another . . . To bystanders it looked like the marriage would wind up on the rocks of Reno . . . Then a strange thing happened. Her parents, who had disowned her when she was a girl, suffered a change of heart. . . . "Come and live with us," pleaded her mother. Her father still hated the new son-in-law but allowed him to move in. . . . Well, the marriage is OK now, and pretty soon they expect to have an apartment all their own . . . Seems her mother and father fought nightly over the new son-in-law, and now she is Reno-bound!

She is a high-salaried buyer for a department store. Been here for years. Well liked . . . One day a strike, and all the salesgirls walked out . . . The boss asked her if she would pinch-hit as a salesgirl until the strike was settled. . . . As a personal favor she acquiesced . . . Three days later she walked into the office with swollen eyes that told of sleepless nights. "I'm resigning," she said. . . . "But look," urged the boss, "you've been with us for years; we've paid you well. Certainly you can stick with us through this trouble." "I want to," came the tearful reply, "but for three nights I've been locked out of my home. My husband is a union official, and he refuses to sleep under the same roof with a strike-breaker!"

The town's booking agents are guffawing over this . . . A much disliked colleague is currently being sued because he borrowed several hundreds from a young assistant, got the guy fired and then refused to pay. . . . True a letter from the lawyer the other day, and the booking agent immediately wrote back: "I dare you to take me to court over the 500 bucks I owe George. You haven't any proof!" . . . And there the chump signed his name! . . . Sohelpmeh!

Pegler Fair Enough

NEW YORK—In planning legislative reforms to liberate "labor" and the rest of the community from the restraints and painful practices imposed by the New Deal in the guise of progress, laymen are better able to state grievances than to recommend laws. By education, mostly through the newspapers, in the era of the labor relations board, the people who voted out the majority of the CIO's selected friends and elected its selected enemies, were equipped, at last, to reject as evils many conditions which were glibly called "Labor's gains."

These bad practices had become so general that the Roosevelt supreme court, in some plainly outrageous cases, had the effrontery to bless them as inevitable, if not necessarily good, events in our progress toward a painted canvas mirage called the more abundant life.

The unions and their lawyers, who include some of the cleverest shysters in the history of the profession, were delighted by these victories but they were actually cheering over nasty little acts of torment which finally turned the vote overwhelmingly against them and all their unions. The fools had learned nothing from the examples of the Anti-Saloon League and the stock swindlers of the era of wonderful nonsense.

THEN WE BEGAN to see more and more flagrant invasions of the field of public taxation by unions. Some of the needle and meat trades, long ago had imposed sales taxes on clothing and poultry through the sale of union tags to manufacturers, or processors. If the suit or the fat hen didn't bear a union tag the unions' concerned would make it practically impossible for these firms to operate. Well, it was a small item, and, anyway, they passed the cost along to the consumer, so they didn't struggle.

Constitutional, political and economic principles meant nothing to them, anyway, and, as always, in the view of the unions, anything that favored their interests was "democracy."

But when Jimmy Petrillo was along demanding a sales tax on records and musical performance, John L. Lewis demanded ten cents a ton on coal for their union dues and without even a pretense of an obligation to divide it among their subjects, the people reeled that actually they were being taxed for these private treasures.

Here are only some of the thousands of details of an evil mess created by the New Deal in the name of "progress." At the bottom of the trouble is the power of the deed shop. There is doubt, even among those who favor the open shop, that congress has constitutional authority to enact an open-shop law. That is something for congress to study, although the government has flagrantly imposed the deed shop on millions of workers and would seem to have an equal right to insist on the reverse.

In the debate on this, the "progressive" New Dealers and members will be haunted, if not necessarily embarrassed, by the fact that not only of Mrs. Frances Perkins, who grudgingly gave the open shop her endorsement, but of their great departed leader, Franklin D. Roosevelt, himself, for in their turn of 1941, in a scrap with John L. Lewis, Roosevelt said the government would not order and endorse a closed shop, because "that would be too much like the Hitler method toward labor."

Of course, he welched on this. One of his characteristic tricks did order the closed shop in that very case. But, as a declaration of principle, there the old master stands with those who insist that the closed shop is "Hitlerian and un-American."

Lippmann Today and Tomorrow

JUST WHAT does Mr. John L. Lewis mean by a contract? He has taught miners not to work without a contract. When he wants them to strike, he does not tell them to strike. He tells them there is no contract, and they stop working. So it is necessary to find out what is Mr. Lewis' idea of a contract.

Less than six months ago he signed a document on behalf of the United Mine Workers of America. That piece of paper opens with a statement that "this agreement covers for the period of government possession the terms and conditions of employment in respect to all mines in government possession." The mines are in government possession, and Mr. Lewis has instigated a strike for the purpose of altering the agreement which he signed on May 29.

By what right? Mr. Lewis contends that section 15 of an earlier agreement—made April 15, 1945—is part of the present contract, and that section 15 gives him the right to demand a new agreement by giving 10 days' notice that he wants a new agreement, to declare, if he does not get the new agreement he wants within 15 days, that there is no "contract," and that five days after there is no "contract," his miners may strike in order to compel the United States government to give him a new "contract."

Thus a contract with Mr. Lewis may state that it is "for the period of government possession," but, as he understands it, it is nevertheless good only for 30 days. He feels morally and legally bound for only 30 days at a time. To have a "contract" with Mr. John L. Lewis, is never to know when he will choose to demand a new contract, and to live with the threat of a coal strike hanging over you at the end of any 30-day period.

That, surely, is not much of a contract. For "the terms and conditions of employment" remain force only at his pleasure.

Moreover, Mr. Lewis has assisted boldly and unashamedly in his letter, to Secretary Krug, that, John L. Lewis, has the final say as to what the contract means. The contract means what he says it means, no more no less, the attorney general to the contrary notwithstanding. The United States government, which is the other party to the contract, has its view no right to have its view of the contract impartially construed. On the law of the contract, Mr. Lewis says Mr. Lewis may overrule the attorney general.

WAS THERE ever such a brazen mockery of a contract? Was there ever a contract that gave one of the parties the right to abrogate it when he chose, all to interpret it as he saw fit? Is long as this is what Mr. Lewis means by a contract to sign a contract, with him is to walk into a trap. The contract does not let him for more than 30 days, let those who sign with him are bound on penalty of a shut-down of the mines, to negotiate a new agreement whenever he thinks he can get the better of them.

Thus under the form of a contract, with the sanctimonious pretence, that he respects contracts, he has acquired a naked right to exercise the power to coerce. He has used the idea of a contract to free himself of any contractual obligation to limit his power to strike. A contract with John L. Lewis has become a contract to have a contract which binds John L. Lewis.

The strike which he has now instigated is not only a reputation of the specific Lewis-Krug contract, but of the very principles of any contract. If he is able to gain his point here, he will have destroyed the foundation of all labor contracts.

HEISER CITES ADVANTAGES OF TRAINING UNIT

Navy Commander Tells City It Will Reap Benefits of Reserve Plan.

Mansfield has been selected to play a vital part in the post-war Naval program for national security because of the fine work of its men and industries during the war, Lt. Cmdr. A. E. Heiser told the Mansfield Naval Advisory Council last night.

In an informal three-hour discussion, held at the Mansfield-Leiland hotel, Cmdr. Heiser explained the navy's plans for the Mansfield area in detail to the 18-man advisory committee headed by Millard H. Feyer.

Cmdr. Heiser, who during the war served in this area as resident Naval Inspector and area supervisor for 367 war plants, said, "I think the community deserves credit for its splendid efforts, as I was in a position to know what was accomplished."

The advantages which will come to the community as the result of the formation of the 195th "Ready Reserve" division and the construction of the $300,000 naval armory, were pointed out to the council by Heiser as four-fold.

"There will be wholesome, healthful training of a large group of men; a Class A Naval trades school with the best and most modern equipment furnished and maintained by the navy will be established; a group of trained men ready to serve the community or the area for disaster relief or as security protection will be organized, and there will be increased revenue in the area, due to payroll for the reserve, cost of constructing and maintaining the armory, and the money spent by the men who reside in the area."

The work of the Naval Advisory Council, Heiser explained, "is to assist the Navy department and its local representative (Heiser) in the promotion of the whole program."

Primarily the council will recommend for appointment a commissioned officer to command Division 195 and assist him in his selection of subordinate officers.

For the purpose of making these selections there will be a meeting of all area Naval Reserve officers in the board room of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce, Farmers Bank building, at 7:30 p. m. Nov. 26. A meeting of enlisted men is also planned for early in December, Cmdr. Heiser said.

City's Practical Nurses Find Growing Demand for Services

By NITA BRANSON

With the decision to discontinue the Mansfield Visiting Nurses association Dec. 1, the ill and needy of the city are turning more and more to the Mansfield Practical Nurses club, from which today 44 women go out into Mansfield homes to supply the care which the visiting nurse once provided.

These 44 women have grown from a small group of 13, organized five years ago at the beginning of the war to help a nursing situation which grew increasingly grave as the war progressed.

Those 13, all of whom were experienced practical nurses, worked together with others less experienced to improve practical nursing standards throughout the city. In those first drastic years, when the demand for nursing care so much exceeded the supply, this original group met with others for round table discussion and for demonstrations which would raise those standards. Many took the nine months practical nursing course through the Chicago School of Nursing, either by correspondence or by actual attendance in classes.

Mrs. Perez First President

That first list included Mrs. Dick Perez, who served as president of the club for four years; Mrs. Mildred Hecht, now heading the club; Mrs. Edward Gale, Mrs. Hazel Devore, Mrs. Jacob Weigel, Mrs. Clara Nelson, Mrs. A. H. Almy, Mrs. Cora Goard, Miss Elizabeth Gangle, Mrs. Alice Collins, Mrs. Edna O'Leary, Mrs. Letha Brown and Mrs. Marian Bonnett.

Present officers, besides Mrs. Hecht, are Mrs. Nelson, vice president; Mrs. Almy, treasurer, and Mrs. Bonnett, secretary.

"Through Mrs. Gale, our group receives from 10 to 15 calls each day," Mrs. Perez said. "We do all the things in the home a practical nurse can do. That does not, of course, include the work which only a registered nurse can perform. We never intrude on this part of nursing. But we give the bedside care that mother and babies need, for instance, when they come home from a hospital. We care for invalids."

"In Mansfield right now, where there are homes where two practical nurses take 12-hour shifts, although our usual day is only ten hours. We have three classes of nurses in our club, available for service. We have a few graduate nurses; several who have had two or three years of training and a number, who have taken the training through the Chicago School of Nursing."

Many Past 50

But, according to Mrs. Hecht, many of the club's members are now past 50. There is a very great need, she feels, as do other members of the club, for younger members—those with at least nine months practical nursing training.

"We hope someday," Mrs. Hecht declared, "that Mansfield may have a school of nursing for practical work as Cleveland is having now, where training in special bedside care may be received and from where graduates may go out into the field with the background to perform the kind of service their patients wish for."

"We are also hoping," she concluded, "that someone will take an interest in this project and help start it in Mansfield as it has been done in Cleveland. With 44 nurses working most of the time, there is no question we feel about the need of practical nurses in Mansfield."

'Bit on Salty Side,' States Poison Taster

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government came up today with a hero—a fellow who has learned what the potent poison 1080 tastes like.

Sort of salty, our hero says.

Now a fellow who will taste 1080 will skip rope with a live electric wire, play pat-a-cake with a man-gnawing tiger, and use E. strychnine solution as a mouthwash.

Only cities and states planning rodent control drives directed by experts get the poison which got its name because the first 1,079 attempts to concoct a super poison were failures.

Today a fish and wildlife leaflet floated in that says flatly that 1080 tastes salty.

How do the F. and W. people know?

"That's easy," Dr. Arnold L. Nelson, assistant chief of the Wildlife Research Division, told a reporter. "Somebody tasted it."

And who is this taste bud hero?

"Oh, I don't know," replied Nelson. "But somebody did. Probably it was somebody in our Denver laboratory."

Nelson said poison-tasting is simple. A scientist knows the poison's strength. So he doesn't take enough to kill. Then he tastes, but doesn't swallow.

"Not much to it, really."

Would Dr. Nelson duplicate the experiment performed by our unidentified hero?

"Who, me?" asked Dr. Nelson. "Great heavens, no!"

And he turned as pale as 1080.

TRIESTE ISSUE DEADLOCK NOW NEAR SOLUTION

Russians Still Oppose Any Major Change in U. N. Veto System.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Spurred by Russian concessions, the great power foreign ministers scored major progress today in breaking their long peace-treaty deadlock on control of Trieste.

But they evidently were headed for trouble over proposals to restrict voluntarily the use of the veto in the United Nations security council.

Prospects Brighten

A series of swift moving developments yesterday and last night brought the brightest prospects yet for early and final agreement on the Italian and other former German satellite peace treaties, but simultaneously dimmed the outlook for any substantial agreements by Russia on the veto issue.

The main developments were these:

1. In a Big Four meeting last night (America, Britain, Russia and France) Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov finally yielded to American-British insistence that the proposed free territory of Trieste should be under a United Nations governor armed with strong powers to protect its independence.

2. In an earlier Big Five meeting (the Big Four plus China) Molotov, after some objection, agreed to consider proposals for voluntarily restricting use of the veto and to discuss them in future Big-Five meetings.

3. At Lake Success, L. I., a committee of the U.N. assembly indirectly approved this procedure by voting 38 to 6 to sidetrack its own veto debate until the foreign ministers had time to act. However, a Soviet spokesman told the committee his government was flatly opposed to any changes in the veto system and objected to all assembly proposals aimed at modifying it.

4. Diplomatic authorities interpreted this as meaning that Molotov probably would reject all Big Five suggestions for voluntarily restricting use of the veto, although he might go along with some British, American and Chinese recommendations aimed not so much at the veto as at speeding up the work of the security council.

The next meeting of the Big Four on the Italian peace treaty and Trieste is scheduled for 4 p. m. (EST) tomorrow. At that time they may also take up, at least briefly, the question of Germany, since they have an agreement to begin talks on Germany about Nov. 20.

200 EXPECTED TO HEAR BINNS

At least 200 persons are expected to hear facts concerning the housing shortage when Arthur W. Binns, Philadelphia, Pa., president of the National Home and Property Owners Foundation, addresses an open meeting Thursday noon in the Mansfield-Leiland hotel, W. C. Mansfield, Foundation chairman for Richland county, said today.

Binns appears as guest of the Mansfield Kiwanis club. "Every property owner and businessman as well as members of the service and veterans' clubs interested in finding out the facts concerning the housing shortage is invited to attend the meeting," Mansfield said. "Anyone who is not a guest at the Kiwanis luncheon but who desires to hear Binns should come to the hotel at 12:30 p. m."

Binns, who advocates solving the housing crisis through private financing, will discuss the efforts of the Foundation to protect individual rights to own and build homes, rental units, and other real estate.

A question and answer period will follow Binns' talk.

'Y' COMMITTEES TO MAKE REPORTS

The weeklong drive for 400 members began last Friday with a "kick-off" dinner at the YMCA.

TYGERS RE-ENTER HIGH BIG TEN

Snydermen Notch Ninth Spot In Weekly Poll

By JOHN BARRINGTON
COLUMBUS — (INS) — Toledo Waite's mighty Indians looked like a shoo-in for mythical state scholastic football honors today as sports writers participating in the weekly International News Service poll hastened to climb on Jack Mollenkopf's band wagon.

Waite's 60-to-6 trouncing of Devilbiss, the same intracity rival trounced 33-0 early in the season, boomed Indian stock to a new high. Where Waite had only a scant edge over Cleveland Cathedral Latin a week earlier, the race was hardly close this time.

Nomination of Waite for the top position in the state created a unique situation. First, it put a once-beaten club ahead of several undefeated eleven. Moreover, Toledo Libbey—midseason conqueror of the Indians—continued to ride along in fifth position.

- BIG TEN
1. Toledo Waite (9-1-0)
 2. Cleveland Cathedral Latin (9-1-1)
 3. Lima Central (10-0-0)
 4. Canton McKinley (8-1-1)
 5. Toledo Libbey (9-0-1)
 6. Youngstown Woodrow Wilson (9-0-0)
 7. Cincinnati Purcell (10-0-0)
 8. Steubenville Central Catholic (9-0-1)
 9. Mansfield (7-2-2)
 10. Massillon (6-2-1)
- Honorable mention (not in order of rating): Barberton, Cleveland Lincels, Columbus Linden McKinley, Akron Garfield, Coshocton, Zanesville, Dayton Chambliss, Hamilton, Cincinnati St. Xavier, Alliance.

One more test remains for Waite, a Thanksgiving day clash with Toledo Scott. Mansfield Tygers closed their season with a convincing 32-14

FATE OF '48 ROSE BOWL TO BE DECIDED TODAY

BERKELEY, Calif. — (U) — Although the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference, waiting the great Army team in the 1947 Rose Bowl, planned a stiff argument, the Pacific Coast and Western conference were expected to agree today on a five-year pact for the Rose Bowl football game.

Representatives from the two loops were to meet at the Claremont hotel, and most observers were sure the agreement would be signed. The proposal would match the PCC champion against the Big Nine champion, or a team selected by the Big Nine champion. Any single Big Nine team could go to Pasadena only once in three years under the plan, and a team which won the Western conference title two straight years would choose another team to play in the Rose Bowl the second year.

However, before the going there may be considerable argument. The northern division which contains the six schools in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, reportedly will vote against signing a contract that would call for Big Nine participation in the fourth-coming Rose Bowl.

There is strong sentiment favoring Army this year—and it has been proposed that the contract with the Big Nine would not go into operation until next year.

If such a plan were proposed by the Pacific coast organization it handy way in which Bud Hughes' club downed Youngstown East, 20 to 7, bore out Hughes' judgment.

Trailing fifth place Libbey came Youngstown Woodrow Wilson, Cincinnati Purcell and Steubenville Central Catholic.

NEW YORK — (AP) — It was still Army in a photo finish over Notre Dame today for the No. 1 spot among the nation's football outfits—and the honeymoon is definitely over for Pennsylvania and Texas.

Balloting in the Associated Press' weekly poll, the sports writers of the country left the warring Cadets from West Point at the head of the parade by the slim margin of 50 points over the Irish, with the unbeaten-untied pair of Georgia and University of California at Los Angeles holding third and fourth, respectively.

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — The Miami Seahawks today had visions of climbing out of the All America football conference cellar after turning back the Buffalo Bisons in the Orange Bowl stadium last night, 21-14.

Leo the Lip Told to Sign Now or Else

NEW YORK — (INS) — Prexy Branch Rickey's warning to Leo Durocher to quit stalling and renew his contract as manager with the Dodgers was not taken seriously by Brooklyn fans today.

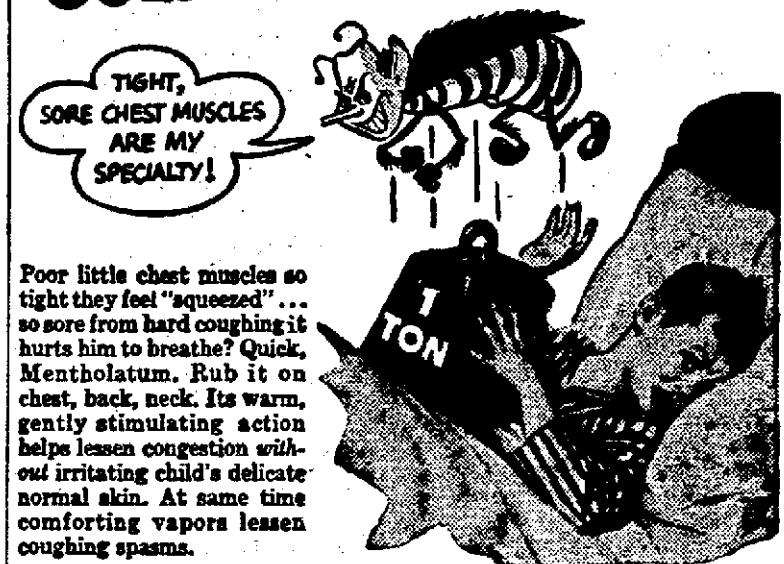

The Brooklyn magnate's ultimatum was: "I will name a manager next Monday. All this nonsense has got to be settled. If we can't come to an agreement with Leo by that time, I'm ready to appoint another man."

Durocher is on the west coast, doing Hollywood.

Rickey appeared annoyed by Durocher's boasting of a Yankee offer from Larry MacPhail, before Bucky Harris signed to manage New York. Dodger fans had little doubt today, however, that The Lip again would be directing the destinies of their beloved Bums next season.

Because of the huge increase in student enrollment, Syracuse University may be forced to find a new site for its home basketball games this winter. Archbold Gymnasium seats only 3,100.

Three Rams Make All-League Team

Four Get Spots On 2nd Club

By BRUCE MCINTY
LOUDONVILLE — Three Mansfield Madison footballers rained places on the 1946 Northeastern Buckeye league honor team while four Rams made the second squad and four received honorable mention. All-league selections were announced at a dinner meeting at the Bank restaurant here last night. Championship Orrville team topped five first team berths.

Captain Jack Cleckner, Ed Thomas and Dick Ernsberger were the Ram gridders honored on the team selected by coaches and sports writers.

Wayne E. Miller, Madison principal, was elected president of the league for the 1947 grid program. Miller had been the vice president since the opening of the conference two years ago. Franklin Lehn, principal of the Loudonville high school, was elected vice president, and M. R. Wilson, faculty manager of Orrville, secretary-treasurer.

Orrville was presented with the trophy for winning the league with five straight victories, while Madison placed second with four wins and a single loss. Orrville defeated Madison in a playoff for the title in 1945.

Doylestown and Millersburg withdrew from the league because faculty members felt that their small enrollment did not allow them to meet the other circuit teams on an even basis.

Coach Jeff DeHaven, Madison, James Hunter, Loudonville, Ashland Hall, Rittman, and Marshall McCuen, principal of Orrville, were named on a committee to pick two schools to enter the league in place of Millersburg and Doylestown.

Selected on point basis with each first team vote getting two points and second team votes, one point, Thomas, Ram end, edged his running mate, Eldon Pritchard by two votes for first team honors.

Thomas played a fine defensive game in all league games and Pritchard accounted for two TD's as well as breaking up many of the opponents' offensive plays by throwing the opposing backs for constant losses.

Cleckner was given 16 votes for tackle and Ernsberger tallied 13 points for quarterback. Ernsberger was the Rams leading scorer with Thomas, Ernsberger and Pritchard are juniors while Cleckner graduates next June.

Chuck Campbell, Madison center won a second team berth with Jack Herr and Herb Eldridge being picked in the backfield. Campbell and Herr are both seniors and Eldridge is a junior.

DeHaven, Miller, Olan LaRue, superintendent of Madison township schools, Assistant Coach William Kopal and Herman Dooley, director of music represented Madison at the dinner meeting.

CITY EMPLOYS FIRE STATION ARCHITECTS

Jones and Conklin Are Hired to Draw Up Plans.

Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow announced today the hiring of Architects Herbert S. Jones and Charles W. Conklin to prepare plans for new fire stations on Marion avenue and Newman street.

The Marion avenue station will be the city's fifth station. It will be a residential-type structure. The Newman house will replace an outmoded building and will be an industrial type.

Jones is to draw plans for the Marion avenue station while Conklin will handle those for the Newman house. Construction is expected to start early next year, Enlow said.

The Marion avenue station is to be located just south of Cline avenue. One pumper will be assigned to it. It will have sleeping quarters for a crew of 12.

Both stations will have features new to Mansfield's fire protection system: a hose-drying tower with electrically operated hoist; a hose-washing trough, and electrically operated apparatus-room doors. Both are to have tiled walls on the first floor to facilitate cleaning.

Wastepaper Plan Given Council Nod

City council's street committee yesterday voted to recommend the licensing of John Gottfried to install waste-paper containers in the downtown area.

Gottfried plans to sell advertising space on the 20 to 25 containers he expects to install. Space will be donated for boosting civic programs. If licensed, he plans to install the containers in January.

Chairman Fred Miller said the committee will recommend to council that Gottfried be licensed for two years and that he be required to have the containers emptied at least once a week.

R. B. Burnham, of Burnham's Outdoor Advertising company, also applied for a license to establish a similar system. Miller said that Gottfried was recommended for the license because he applied for it before Burnham.

Mrs. America Rejects Title, Can't Leave Home

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Mrs. Janice Pollock today preferred the familiar glimmer of the kitchen range to the tinselled glamor of the "Mrs. America of 1948" title bestowed upon her last week.

The pretty 24-year-old housewife and mother of four won the title in a contest at Jackson, Miss., last Wednesday, but definitely gave up the honor and an accompanying $2,500 prize yesterday because acceptance would have required a 20 weeks' tour of the country.

Her place as "Mrs. America" was taken by Mrs. Freda Adler of Anderson, S. C., who had finished second.

"It was far more important to stay here and be a mother to the children than any amount of glory or money from the contest," Mrs. Pollock said.

Her husband, Mark Pollock, said his wife telephoned that message to Burt Titcomb, contest manager at Jackson.

Shortly after Mrs. Pollock won the contest she announced she would not accept the title because it would be difficult making a nationwide tour with her four children, Susan, 6; Tommy, 5; Mark, 2; and Bobby, 10 months.

Titcomb announced last night that Mrs. Jack Acker would be crowned and given the title's benefits.

Previously, Mrs. Acker, who has one child, told reporters she would gladly accept the title.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's pills, a stimulant diuretic, and successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 16 million of kidney trouble out of poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

BUCKEYE AGAIN IS PLENTIFUL!

Just like old times—a glass or bottle of Good Time Buckeye Beer awaits you anytime at your dealer's.

Buckeye is made the Kraeusen way (pronounced CROY-SEN). This means double fermentation similar to the age-old champagne process. It takes long months—large capacity—and additional expense to produce... so, very few American beers use this unhurried process.

But what a big difference in flavor and enjoy-ability. Always ask for Buckeye. The Buckeye Brewing Co., Toledo, Ohio.

WHAT? WHAT? THAT? SPEAK UP THERMOS. I CAN'T HEAR YOU.
I ASKED YOU THREE TIMES—WHY DIDN'T YOU SEND MY PANTS OUT TO BE PRESSED? ARE YOU GETTING DEAF? OR MAYBE I SHOULD GET A MEGAPHONE!
AND THEN AGAIN THERE ARE TIMES WHEN THERE ISN'T A THING WRONG WITH HER HEARING.
A POKER SEASON TOMORROW! YEAH, I'LL TRY TO MAKE IT.
I HEARD THAT, THERMOS! YOU CAN TELL THOSE LOAFER FRIENDS OF YOURS YOU'RE NOT GAMBLING WITH THEM TO-NIGHT OR ANY OTHER NIGHT!

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

THANKS. AREN'T YOU UNDERGOING A RATHER SUDDEN CHANGE OF HEART, KIDDO?

I...I'VE BEEN DOING A LOT OF THINKING, MR. KIRBY. I'VE DECIDED I'D LIKE TO BE THE KIND OF GIRL YOU ADMIRE...

BEFORE I GO, MR. KIRBY, COULD I PLEASE HAVE YOUR AUTOGRAPH. I'LL TREASURE IT...

WELL... IF IT MEANS SO MUCH TO YOU...

PENNY

A LETTER FROM YOUR COUSIN CLAUDE. HE'S COMING FOR A VISIT DAY AFTER TOMORROW.

COUSIN CLAUDE, MAILEDICTORIAN OF HIS CLASS, HEAD OF THE DEBATING TEAM AND CLASS CHOIR LEADER!

YES.

DAY AFTER TOMORROW IS YOUR RUMPS CLUB PARTY. HOW FORTUNATE TO HEAR THAT HE'S COMING!

AND HOW, MOTHER!

IT STILL GIVES ME PLENTY OF TIME TO WARN THE GANG!

TILLIE

MR. VAN VAY? HOWS IT SEEM TO YOU? I'VE HAD A PATIENT THAT STILL DOESN'T MAKE LOVE CONSCIOUS TO YOU?

WELL, WITH AN EYE-WITNESS, IT'LL BE SIMPLE TO GET THE FACTS.

DID YOU SEE MISS TRINK STRIKE OR PUSH MR. VAN VAY, OR DID HE JUST FALL?

WELL, AS NEAR AS I COULD TELL IN THE DARK, IT WAS ALL THREE.

MIKEY MOUSE

IT'S THE OLD STORY... OUR MASTER ABANDONED US ON YOUR DOORSTEP!

BUT YOU'RE A TALKING DOG! YOU'RE WORTH A FOR— (TUNE)

I NEVER TOLD HIM I COULD TALK...

I STILL CAN'T BELIEVE A DOG CAN TALK...

YOU READ ABOUT THAT TALKING DOG ABROAD— DIDN'T YOU?

YES, BUT...

WELL... WHERE'S YOUR PATRIOTISM? DON'T YOU THINK OUR OWN DOGS CAN TALK AS WELL AS THOSE FOREIGN DOGS?

THE GUMPS

SWEET OLD UNCLE BIM— DOES HIS HEART GOOD TO BE ABLE TO LET HIM IN ON A WINNING DEAL?

HOW MUCH DID YOU SHAKE HIM DOWN FOR THIS TIME? AND WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO LOSE IT ON?

YOUR SARCASM FALLS ON DEAF EARS, BEAUTY'S SPOUSE.

DEAF? HE MEANS DUMB!

WITH BIM'S BACKING, I'LL MARKET THIS MIRACLE MUSCLE MAKER! THERE'RE BILLIONS IN IT.

THE STRAIN'S BEEN TOO MUCH, I'VE FINALLY CRACKED UP! LOOK AT WHAT I THINK I SEE!

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

ON HIS WAY over on his back. "There they are," said he. "They are so tightly closed that in so far as I am concerned there might as well be no doors at all. Trying to open them is waste of time. I've got good teeth, strong teeth, but that shell is too much for them. How would you like to have a dinner right under your nose and not be able to eat it? But I'll get him one of these days. I'll surprise him before he can close his doors."

"Did you say doors?" asked Peter Rabbit, who was looking on from a respectful distance.

"That's what I said—doors," replied Bobby Coon shortly.

"I should think one door would be enough. How many has he?" asked Peter.

"Two," grunted Bobby Coon, "and if you ask me that is two too many."

Peter chuckled. "Probably he doesn't think so," said he.

Bobby Coon slipped a black paw under Slowpoke and turned him wondered how Slowpoke inside could breathe.

For a long time Peter sat there staring at those closed doors and wishing that one would open. At long last Peter saw a little crack at the edge of the front door. He watched it. Slowly, very slowly, it widened. He could see Slowpoke's nose, just the tip of it. The door opened a little more. Now he could see Slowpoke's red eyes. Peter leaned forward a little that he might see better. Instantly that door was closed. Another wait followed, but not as long as before. This time Peter didn't move.

The door opened a little more. Cautiously Slowpoke pushed his head out. Those small bright red eyes looked all around. Cautiously that head was pushed farther and farther out for the full length of the neck. The two front legs came out. The back door opened and the hind legs appeared. Slowpoke bent his head down to one side so that he could push his hard nose against the ground, gave a hard push and twist and was rightside up. It was a clever trick, that turning over.

"Has he gone?" hissed Slow-

poke. Of course he meant Bobby Coon.

Peter assured him that Bobby Coon was no longer in sight. "He's a nuisance, that fellow. He knows he can't get me, yet he always tries and as often as not leaves me on my back," hissed Slowpoke. "One of these days he will get a finger pinched in one of my doors and it will serve him right. Perhaps after that he will leave me alone." Slowpoke began to move away.

"Wait a minute! I want to ask you some questions," cried Peter. "Can't wait. I've lost too much time already," hissed Slowpoke, moving right along. He had left the Crooked Little Path.

"Why can't you wait? What is so important that you can't stop to answer a few questions?" persisted Peter, hopping after him.

"I started out to find a place to spend the winter and I shall keep on until I find it. I should be there now. It is time," hissed Slowpoke.

"Where?" asked Peter.

"I don't know. That is why I must keep going until I find it," replied Slowpoke and plodded along.

MAXWELL'S

BOARD PLACES OBERLANDER ON ALL-YEAR BASIS

Vocational Director Given Full-Time Post; Four Other Employees Named.

Because of the increased activities of his department, V. H. Oberlander, coordinator of vocational education at Senior high school, today was on an all-year basis instead of a nine-month school-term schedule.

Acting on the recommendation of the state department of education, the board of education last night approved the longer working schedule.

Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller pointed out that the new plan will enable Oberlander to give more time to his class organization work and to make more contacts with industry in connection with the veterans' training program at the high school.

The board last night approved the appointment of four school employees, reinstated a teacher who has been in military service, and accepted one resignation.

Mrs. Catherine Carvour was employed as a permanent substitute teacher at Brinkerhoff school replacing Mrs. Mary Wiltrout Smith who resigned to leave the city.

Raymond Dent was reinstated as a vocational teacher at Senior high school, and Miss Jacqueline Augustine was named a clerk in George Sherman's office at Senior high school.

The board approved the civil service certifications of Robert Fryor and John W. Jones as assistant janitors to fill vacancies in the school maintenance staff. They succeed Leonard Sellers and Barney Adams who resigned.

Ask More Pay.

School custodians asked the board last night for pay increases for night and Sunday work in keeping auditoriums and gyms clean and heated. They want $5 a night and $10 on Sunday when they must keep a school building open for an outside group or an extra curricular activity in the school. They are now receiving $3 a night and $5 for Sunday work.

The board asked Supt. Miller to seek a meeting with a committee representing the custodians' union before action is taken on the request.

Police Hold Death Message For Girl

Mansfield police were asked today by Chicago police to locate Helen Burns, said to be a Westinghouse employe here, and inform her of the death of her brother, Alexander, in Chicago.

The police message indicated he was found dead, apparently from natural causes.

Mansfield police said they had been unable to find Miss Burns. The Chicago police listed her address as 81 South Ashland street. There is no such address in Mansfield.

Levy Still Fails Despite Recount

CAMBRIDGE—(UP)—The proposed one-mill levy to increase salaries of Cambridge municipal employees was still unpassed today after a recount of the city's 23 precincts.

City employees posted $5 for each precinct for a recount after the levy failed to pass in the last general election. Twenty votes were picked up to make the deficiency only 43 as against 63 previously.

CONVICTS AID GLATTKE PLEA

er," he said. "But the answer is not in stone and steel.

"The main question is classification, and then the trained people to carry on a treatment program. The public cares about getting rid of the criminal, but not about what happens before he is freed."

Range From 17 to 26.

Glatke said the 18 prisoners taken to Columbus yesterday were from 17 to 26 years of age, and represented virtually every psychopathic, intelligence and criminal classification.

The inmates were handcuffed during the trip to Columbus, but were not cuffed during the questioning period before the conference, Glatke said.

The conference was attended by representatives of the welfare agencies of Ohio. Gov.-Elect Thomas J. Herbert spoke extemporaneously, but did not mention welfare policy specifically.

State Welfare Director Frazier Reams gave his annual report in which he supported Glatke's proposal, and said Ohio must build a classification and treatment system.

Drive Backs Education To Defeat Atom

PRINCETON, N. J.—(UP)—A campaign for a $1,000,000 fund for general education on the social implications of atomic energy has been opened here by Professor Albert Einstein and eight other scientists.

Einstein said of the fund appeal that "our efforts have their origin in a feeling of the heavy responsibility which physicists have taken upon themselves by the creation of the atom bomb."

The fund appeal, announced by the emergency committee of Atomic Scientists, Inc., said:

"These facts are accepted by all scientists:

"1—Atomic bombs can now be made cheaply and in large number. They will become more destructive.

"2—There is no military defense against the atomic bomb and none can be expected.

"3—Other nations can rediscover

PLANS ISLAND RADIO

Sandusky city police and Erie County sheriff's department are planning a radio system which will permit emergency communication between the island and mainland at any time.

5. A record-breaking corn crop, forcing prices lower, has produced a corn-hog ratio at Chicago of 15.8 to 1, meaning that the price of 100 pounds of live hog is equal to the price of 15.8 bushels of corn.

6. Holdings of meat in cold storage have increased. "Though normal movement for meat (in October) is out-of-storage," the agriculture department said, "stocks of stored meat increased during October by 24,000,000 pounds."

This still left stocks around half of normal for Nov. 1.

GROUPS GRANTED USE OF SCHOOLS

Three organizations last night were granted use of Mansfield school gymnasiums and auditoriums during the winter while the board of education deferred action on a request from another group.

The board gave the Friendly House permission to use the Senior high auditorium for boxing shows Thursday nights, beginning Dec. 9 and extending through April. A ring will be erected on the stage.

Board members indicated, however, that it may be necessary to shift the ring shows from some of the Thursday nights if the auditorium is needed for other events.

The City Class A Basketball league was authorized to use the Senior high gymnasium for cage games Monday and Wednesday nights for 13 weeks, beginning Dec. 2.

A request from the Four Square Gospel church, 168 South Adams street, for use of the Hedges school gym two Monday nights a month for children of the church was granted. A fee of $5 was set for two hours a night.

Request of S. K. Lehnhoff of the Bible Study league, for the John Simpson auditorium for nine Sunday nights, beginning Dec. 22, was tabled until the board's December meeting.

Lehnhoff, who has been lecturing in the city, has a contract for Sunday night meetings at the Simpson school until Dec. 15. He said meetings now held at the Johnny Applesseed school would be shifted to the Simpson auditorium if permission to use it for nine more weeks is granted.

Maybe there will be no need for soap—the way people are getting lathered up over the jump in prices.

It's probably too much to expect, but it may at least be wondered if members of the Supreme Court ever hear anything about election returns.

It was Emerson who said: "The true test of civilization is not the census, nor the size of cities, nor the crops—no, but the kind of man the country turns out"—and, as you think it over, you will realize that the same thing applies to cities.

Will Government Or Lewis Win?

BECAUSE of its disastrous potentialities, the total shutdown of soft coal production, threatened for tomorrow night, provides today's topmost news, coupled with speculation as to whether or not "the government" can take effective steps to compel John L. Lewis to abandon his rebellious course and signal his miners to remain on their jobs.

Already many of his over-eager followers have left the pits to indulge in what are called "wildcat" strikes, thus evidencing a willingness to penalize the entire country in carrying through their own program of pressure to enforce the demands of their dictatorial leader.

This procedure reveals the futility of attempting to compel obedience to law, in matters involving mass work stoppages, while vicious minorities are left in position to prevent majorities from continuing at work—as in the case of picketing struck industries or utilities, which invariably carries a threat of violence to those disposed to cross picket lines.

Far from any such intent, John L. Lewis and his associate conspirators are laying the groundwork for regulatory legislation designed to curb such excesses as that in which he is now engaged, and the outcome of the present controversy may go far toward influencing the incoming congress in deciding just how drastic that legislation should be in protecting the public interest against aggressive minorities under leadership determined to either rule or ruin.

Anniversary of Gettysburg Address

TODAY is "Dedication day" in the United States—if you know what that means. This date marks the 83rd anniversary of delivery of the Gettysburg Address by President Lincoln, and it has been asked that a re-reading of that memorable address be made a part of the day's observance.

A resolution passed by the last session of congress designates this day and President Truman's proclamation emphasized that the Gettysburg Address has "a special and solemn connotation in world affairs at the moment."

The eighty-three years that have passed since Lincoln spoke at Gettysburg have brought many changes, but what he said applies as well today, in the efforts at solution of post-war troubles, as it did when the reconstruction of a strife-torn nation was uppermost in mind. Read again:

"It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Some Jobs Last a Long Time

CHANCE seems to play a large part in determining the course of individuals from youth to old age. Occasionally a child follows through to the profession, business or trade that attracted his or her first interest, but more often it is preparation, interest and circumstances that lead to a first job, then another and another, until a degree of permanence is attained in some congenial line of work that may—rather unexpectedly—develop into a "life-time job."

No more interesting book can be imagined that one devoted to recital of incidents which led to present jobs of many Mansfielders—including information as to how they chanced to come to this particular spot from other parts of this country, or from some other country.

Yesterday's News-Journal article about John H. Leiter, long-time post office employee, and how he came to start on that job 39 years ago, is an example of the strange working of Fate in human affairs.

'Bigness' Grows From 'Smallness'

IN AN editorial concerning efforts to limit the growth of business, particularly in the merchandising field, the Christian Science Monitor said: "Bigness is invariably the end-product of successful competition. When bigness achieves power, it yields it sometimes for good, sometimes for evil. It has some natural limitations. . . . For the rest, restraint and discipline designed to curb abuses of bigness should be our aim rather than some nostalgic and historically impractical undertaking to maintain an artificial and frequently uneconomic smallness."

"Bigness" in merchandising came in almost every instance out of "smallness." The leading chains, for example, in both the grocery and the general merchandise fields, began as single stores—and small stores at that. Their growth is simply the reflection of public approval of their service to consumers. So people patronized them—and the stores grew.

Despite the emergence of the national and regional chain systems, the position of the independent, far from being imperiled, has been strengthened. As the Monitor points out, bigness has its natural limitations. The one-store merchant can provide special services which act as a magnet to trade.

World Federation Gaining Favor

THE UNITED STATES may be more willing to enter a world government than some people seem to think. Massachusetts voted on the matter at the recent election, the question being whether the United Nations should be made into "a world federation able to prevent war." Seventy per cent of those who marked their ballots for candidates voted on this question, and the vote was 515,944 for to 59,546 against.

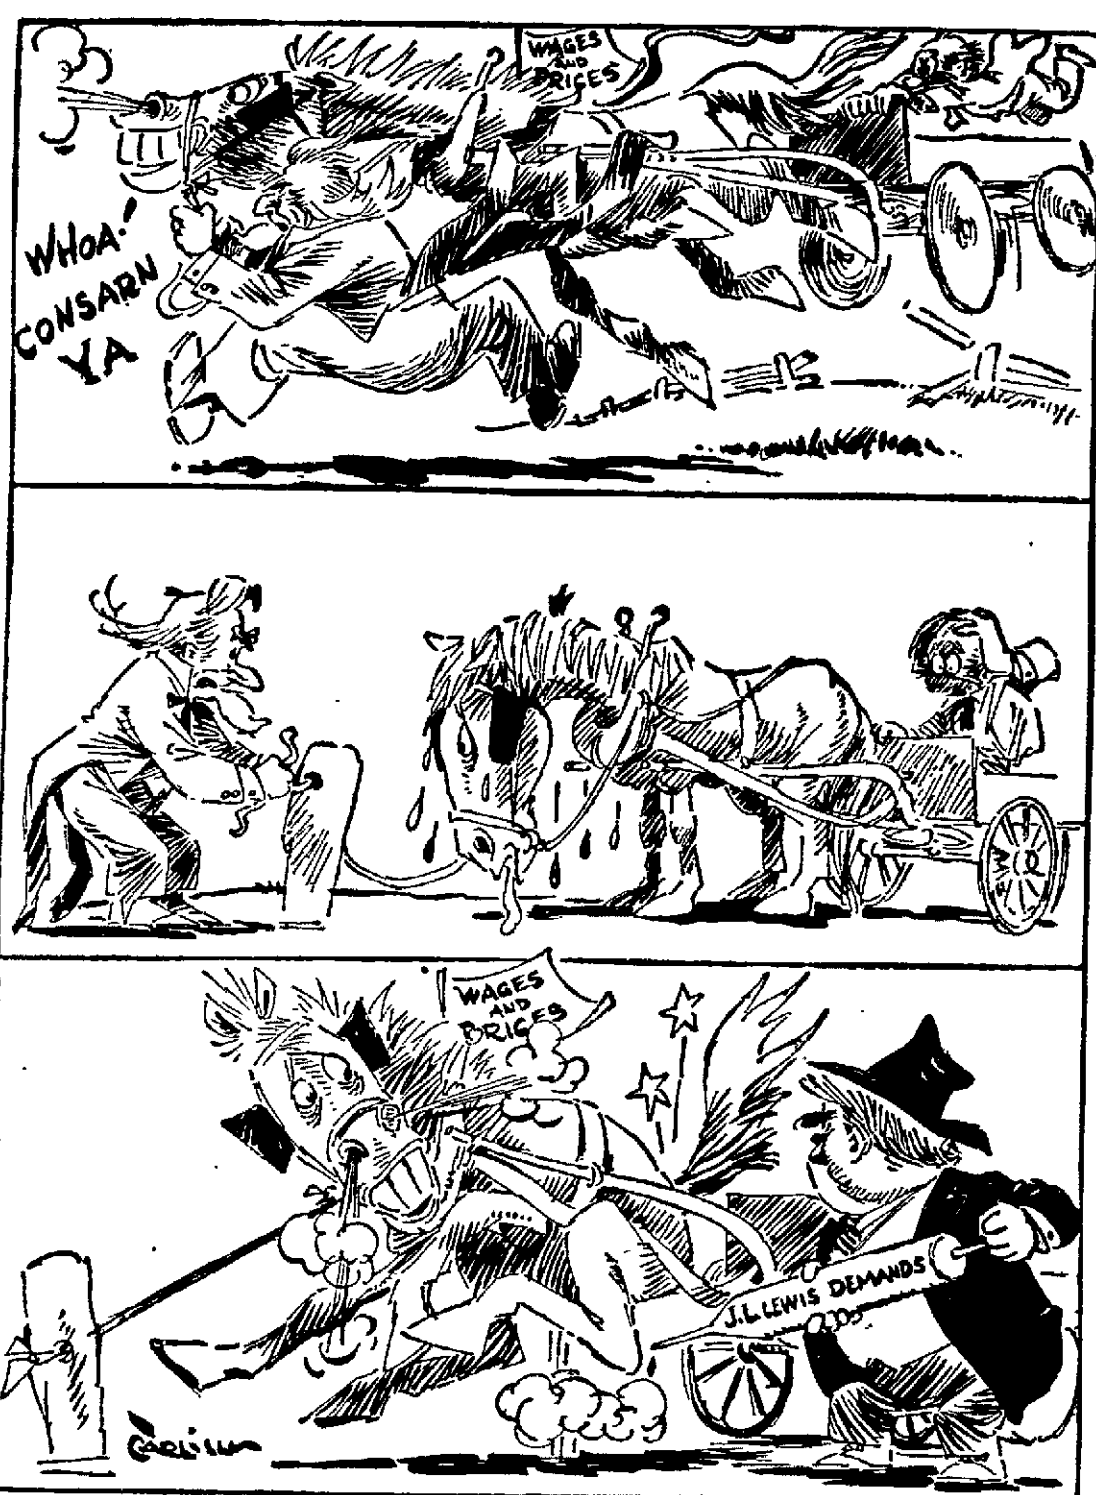

This vote should interest Massachusetts Senators Lodge and Saltonstall, as well as other statesmen.

GOP Talk of Tax Cut Unjustified Unless Armament Budget Drops

By RAYMOND MOLEY

THERE is only one thing as bad as loose talk about tax reduction before election. That is loose talk about tax reduction by the victors immediately after election.

It is not clear that the predictions of various Republicans about a 20 per cent cut in individual income rates all mean the same thing. In some cases, the statements are qualified; in some cases they are not.

The most dependable statements are those which express hope for a reduction if and after substantial savings are made and something is paid on the debt.

It requires no genius to see that material savings are possible and that, if Molotov means business about disarmament, very large savings are likely. An ex-Molotov budget would be a windfall for American taxpayers. The real issue is the balance between tax reduction and debt retirement. Until a long-term debt-retirement policy is made, there should be no talk at all about tax reduction. And no one seems to know what part of the debt should be scheduled for yearly retirement.

It would be economic insanity and ultimate political death for Republicans to ignore the tested principle that the time to pay off a debt is during a period of high income, especially in a period of inflation. If debt cannot be substantially reduced in such a period, it never can be reduced.

There is some sense in using the debt as an economic balance wheel, cutting when times are good and paying less rapidly or not at all when times are bad. But now we are experiencing a genuinely inflated income, when great reductions should be in order.

There are economists who suggest a debt cut of two billion dollars a year. This is an average cut. They say that the cut should be one billion in poor years; two billion in middle years and three billion in good years.

With the debt now over $250 billion, that would mean over a century to pay for this war and for the New Deal. But to strike even such an average as this, we should aim at a three to four billion debt cut in the forthcoming fiscal year.

Even this reduction is relatively small, compared with what happened under Secretary Andrew Mellon. He came into office, in 1921, with a debt of about $24 billion. From June, 1921 to June, 1930, a period of nine years, the debt was reduced to something over $16 billion. That averaged something less than a billion a year on a debt of less than a tenth of the present figure. And those years were extraordinarily prosperous.

The fact that Republicans face is that the cost of our revised attitude toward Russia has already thrown the calculations of President Truman's 1946 budget message entirely out of line.

He forecast a budget of much less than $30 billion as a peace-time level after this year of transition. But now our military preparations have raised the figure for the next fiscal year so high that even with all the optimistic proposed cuts suggested

On November 19, 1912, a board of alienists pronounced John Schrank, Theodore Roosevelt's assailant insane. Their judgment was subsequently upheld by the court.

John won't stand for anything less—he has announced that no president of the United States and no member of his cabinet can tell him what to do.

Everybody's got to kowtow to John or have a showdown. And a showdown would mean that at last the government and the people of this country are fed up with his autocratic, overbearing arrogant and insulting tactics and will stand no more from him even if they have to burn wood.

From past performances and records I doubt that we've got the gumption. John is counting on his conviction that we lack it from head to toes.

Washington Society Is Once More 'Recognizing' Ignored Republicans

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Most amusing sight on the Merry-Go-Round scene today is the frantic scramble of the socialites, the lobbyists, and the local power politicians to get religion in a hurry. In this case, religion is better known as the GOP.

After fourteen years of Democratic rule, the Republicans were so far down the social list they almost developed an inferiority complex. But now they are staging a grand comeback. The invitations to once-scorned Republican senators and congressmen have doubled and tripled, as hostesses bid for the newly-won prestige of GOP salons.

Scores of Washingtonians are now racking their brains to figure out whom they know who knows someone who knows someone high in Republican ranks.

Always in step with the times is popular presidential court-jester George Allen, who never hesitates to tell a joke on himself. In you walk into Allen's private office, first thing you will see is an autographed picture of his good friend, Harry Truman.

Second thing is a newly hung autographed photo of Senator Arthur Vandenberg. A glance at the wall shows, however, that although the picture was recently hung, it was not recently autographed. It says, "For my dear friend, George E. Allen. With best wishes, A. H. Vandenberg." The date is June 9, 1938.

Asked whether he hung the photo on the day after elections, the ever-lovable court-jester replied:

"Oh, no. I didn't wait that long. I hung it up at quarter past eight on election night. Sure was dusty, but I had it all polished up."

New Witch-Hunt.

About two weeks before elections, Mississippi's roarin' tootin' Congressman John Rankin, Democrat, and New Jersey's witch-hunting J. Parnell Thomas, Republican, put their heads together and agreed that, with a Republican election certain, now was the time to sweep out of the government all the liberals whom Rankin and Thomas do not like.

To this end, it was agreed that New Jersey's Thomas was to be chairman of the un-American affairs committee, while Rankin was to continue as the driving force.

Thomas was to carry the ball just enough to retain some semblance of being chairman, but most of the work was to be done by the so-called "gentleman" from Mississippi.

The agreement was no sooner reached than Robert Stripling, former chief investigator under Martin Dies, and three times deferred from the draft, was re-employed. Stripling was given the promise that he would become chief investigator under the Republican congress beginning in January.

Since his return, Stripling has been slipping into the old house office building, by the southeast entrance, wearing dark glasses to conceal his identity. In addition, a sun-tan picked up in the army has helped disguise him.

For three weeks he has been busy going over the files of the old Dies committee, working up a master list of those in the federal service whom the Rankin committee will smear at the first opportunity.

the same view. But Wadsworth quickly harpooned their objections.

"National defense is an over-all matter and should be handled as such by a single committee," said the big New York cattle farmer and ex-senator. "Our experience with overlapping defense legislation during the last war proved this conclusively. Wadsworth continued. It was absurd, he added, for the army and navy to continue to bring their closely related problems before separate committees.

Upshot was that the GOP leaders went on record to accept the Reorganization Act in toto, with the understanding that changes might be made later if necessary.

Scan Labor Horizon.

One veteran senator and one newcomer are destined to play leading roles in GOP labor relations in the next congress. The veteran is aggressive, square-jawed Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine. The newcomer is Sen. Irving M. Ives, scholarly, 50-year-old New York Republican, who had an impressive labor record in the N. Y. state assembly and at Cornell university.

It was Ives who fathered the bipartisan committee on labor legislation in the New York legislature, and steps are now being taken privately to set up a similar committee in congress.

Chief behind-the-scenes plunger for this plan is Brewster. Already he has had some confidential chats with labor spokesmen, has warned that unless they play ball, drastic legislation scuttling the Wagner Act is sure to be enacted.

Brewster's idea is to negotiate a covenant for labor peace between congress and labor, which could, if successful, obviate the need of rough, legislative crack-downs. Such a peace pact might take the form of a strike moratorium or an agreement to arbitrate major disputes.

Come what may, some labor curbs, including revision of the Wagner Act, seem certain to be voted, but Brewster believes these curbs can be tempered in direct proportion to labor's ability to control its own mavericks.

In private talks with labor leaders, Brewster has put it this way: "American business exceeded itself in the 20's and suffered the consequences. Labor has been guilty of the same thing in the last ten years and will also find itself behind the eight ball unless you fellows do something to end these strikes."

Future Course of Democrats Pondered.

WASHINGTON — While Republicans largely occupy the public stage here now, there is going on behind the scenes, among the Democrats, quite a lively debate about the future course of "their" now shattered party.

It resolves into the constant conflict between the New Deal and conservative wings of the party. It is, first, a battle for support by President Truman.

Second, it is a battle for control of the Democratic national committee headquarters machinery.

As much as President Truman kept in the background during the campaign, he now becomes the key to the party's immediate future. Will he assert himself and try to rebuild the party as a progressive instrument, which is what new dealers hope, or will he coast along comfortably in the next two years—which would suit the conservative wing largely dominated by southerners?

All we have thus far as guide is his statement offering co-operation with the Republican leadership, but which pointed out that inevitably issues will arise between the White House and congress.

He did not try to define the issues, which is hardly possible yet, but he did express the hope for "a progressive concept of government."

Will Mr. Truman merely draw the battle on the straight-out, obvious routine issues already suggested by Republicans, such as tax reduction and a cut in national defense appropriations, to both of which he is known to be opposed? Or will he wade in on the social welfare and economic program that he previously has espoused?

What course he takes undoubtedly will be reflected in the second matter at issue.

During the campaign, Democratic National Chairman Bob Hannegan became the champion of the New Deal wing of the party. He sought to bolster the New Deal forces throughout the country and emphasize progressivism in the campaign. Realistically, Bob Hannegan sees the only hope for the party lies in being progressive.

He got little encouragement during the campaign from the corps of aides about the White House, most of whom are in the "conservative mould," and with whom he has been at odds before.

He was discouraged by his campaign experience. It is expected that he will resign as national chairman, though not immediately. Considerations of his health are involved which make it necessary for him to carry a lighter load and might also make it necessary for him to retire as postmaster general.

His retirement probably would start a scramble for the key party post as national chairman.

President Truman is expected to give a clue to his course in his annual message to congress in January. Between now and then he will be pressed with advice by both wings of the party.

Entering into the situation as an important factor, of course, is whether he expects to run again in 1948. There is one significant point in the discussion of this prospect—and it is much discussed these days. This is that, while a few weeks ago it had been taken for granted that he would run again, it is now being talked of as uncertain.

He, alone, knows—if he, himself, knows yet.

Extent of Republican Sweep Analyzed.

WASHINGTON—The Republican sweep in the election this year has been compared with what happened in 1930, when the Democrats started their come-back. But what happened this time is of so much greater magnitude that it compares with 1930 as a tidal wave does to a thunderstorm.

The majority of the total vote rolled up by the Republicans was so great that, for comparison, one must go to the majorities which President Roosevelt piled up in the heyday of his popularity.

Statisticians Louis H. Bean, an expert on election trends, estimated that the Republicans got 57 per cent of the total vote cast on Nov. 5. This, of course, is based on unofficial figures. It compares

Favorite at Four

Any time of day, and especially about four in the afternoon when hungry youngsters come in from school, Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk is a favorite appetite pleaser. And here's why it's a favorite . . .

It has a rich, creamy flavor that children really go for. And no wonder! The thousands of tiny cream particles are all through the milk, even at the bottom of the bottle. That means the last glassful is just as creamy and good as the first. Homogenized milk digests quicker and easier and is more wholesome and nourishing than ordinary milk.

Have a quart or two on hand tomorrow to satisfy those lusty after-school appetites. Try it yourself and you'll know why Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk is the favorite of Mansfield children—and grown-ups, too!

Get it from your neighborhood Isaly milkman, at your grocery or any Isaly Dairy store. Telephone us if you'd like home delivery service. The number is 4317-6.

Homogenized milk is Pasteurized milk scientifically processed by forcing every drop through very small openings at extremely high pressure. This produces nearly 10 times more butterfat globules. These tiny cream particles then combine with the milk and never separate. Thus, there's cream through the entire quart.

"HERE WE GROW AGAIN"

Dear Mansfield:

"THE FACE IS FAMILIAR"

. . . and so is the name, when you shop in the soon-to-open O'Neil's of Mansfield.

For in every one of O'Neil's 75 big new departments, you will meet salespeople who are Mansfield residents. Maybe you went to high school with the young lady at the glove counter. Maybe you play bridge with the young man who is going to sell you furniture at O'Neil's.

They are people you know are efficient and capable, and in whose judgment you have confidence.

These Mansfield folks are enthusiastic about their new jobs and about the merchandise and service they will present to you.

Next week we are going to give you a picture-story of the entire staff of O'Neil's of Mansfield. Watch for it!

Sincerely,
